Since the last day of school on 15 November 2019, 17 688 Queensland Year 12 students have received an offer from QTAC.

QTAC CEO Dr John Griffiths congratulates those students who were successful in receiving an offer, and for those that did not, he has this advice.

“While you may not have received an offer for a particular university or course, there are still vacancies available for those with a desire to start study in semester 1,” he said.

“Now is the time to change your preferences on your QTAC Application, allowing you to be considered for further offer rounds happening later this month. QTAC is all about connecting people with opportunities, and we can work with all of our applicants on pathway options to future study.

Information on vacancies can be found at www.qtac.edu.au.

Those who have received an offer have until 4pm on Tuesday 21 January 2020 to respond.
